"What's the unrowest escape you over had?"

Well, about the closest shave that I remember was when I was putting some copper on a steamer's bottom while she was in dock. I took some plates down with me and did some work on one side of the hull, after which I wanted to put some plates on the other side. The vossel was about three feet off the bottom. I crawled underneath, dragging some plates after me. When I had been workng for some time, I noticed my air was getting short, so I went to try to get under the keel again to be hauled up. I found the steamer nearly on the bottom and specesting my air hose between her keel and the ground. The tide was giving out, and she had gradually sunk un-til she was almost aground. I had for-gotten all about the tide, and when I pulled the hose I found it would not budge an inch. I can tell you scared is no word for how I felt.

"If the bottom had been soft, it would not have matiered so much, but it was rock, and the hose was gripped like a vice.
